I have utilized Adventures Colombia for organizing and conducting birdwatching and other nature-related trips for 3 years and can highly recommend them. They have planned trips for me to observe some of Colombia's most difficult birds, including the Blue-bearded Helmetcrest of Santa Marta, Baudo Guan in the Choco, Hooded Antpitta in the Eje Cafetero, Antioquia Brushfinch, Black-and-Chestnut Eagle at the nest, and many others. Though most of these trips have been within Colombia, they have also planned and conducted very successful trips for me to Costa Rica and to Ecuador. While birdwatching has been the major focus of many of these trips, some of my trips with them have concentrated on butterflies, moths, orchids, and dragonflies. We've enjoyed searching for and photographing wildlife from poison-arrow frogs to humpback whales., Adventures Colombia has always provided comfortable transportation, the best available accommodation, good meals, and excellent guiding services. I certainly recommend them without hesitation.
